Meet Our Adjudicator – Tommy Seah

We are absolutely delighted to welcome Tommy Seah as an adjudicator for this year's South West Piano Festival.

Born in Singapore and now based in Perth, Tommy began learning both piano and violin at just four years of age. His journey since then has been quite remarkable – and music is only one part of his impressive story!

A wonderfully multi-talented musician and academic, Tommy holds a Bachelor of Engineering and a Bachelor of Economics from the University of Western Australia, as well as a Graduate Diploma in Piano Performance and a Master of Arts from the Western Australian Academy of Performing Arts (WAAPA). As a pianist, Tommy has performed across Australia, Asia, Europe and North America as both a soloist and chamber musician. He has also competed in prestigious international piano competitions, including the Hamamatsu International Piano Competition, Australian Chopin International Piano Competition and Franz Liszt International Piano Competition Bayreuth-Weimar. In 2017 and 2018, he received the Menahem Pressler Foundation Scholarship to study at the Adamant International Piano Summer School in Vermont, USA. Tommy has studied with renowned pianists and teachers Anna Sleptsova, Leslie Howard and Seta Tangel, and now shares his own knowledge and experience with the next generation of musicians as a sessional lecturer at WAAPA.

His musical interests extend well beyond the concert stage. Tommy is also an active researcher, particularly interested in how pianists performed and interpreted music in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. He has presented his research in Australia and internationally and is the founder and Artistic Director of the Perth Recital Series. With such a fascinating combination of music, performance, teaching, research, engineering and economics, Tommy brings a wonderfully broad perspective to everything he does. We feel very fortunate to have Tommy joining us at the South West Piano Festival and look forward to our young pianists benefiting from his expertise, encouragement and love of music. Welcome, Tommy! 🎵
